Through M³ Solution Centers in various locations across the world, we offer optimum measuring solutions to our customers.

In recent years, as the reduction of manufacturing lead times has become a major theme in the manufacturing industry, in the category of large measuring equipment such as coordinate measuring machines, including car body CMMs, and form measuring instruments, demand for CNC machines (computer numerical control automated measuring machines) has been rising. Moreover, along with a similar increase in demand for 3D CAD, non-contact measurement using laser sensor probes become common for 3D measuring machines.

By providing M³ Solution Centers in various locations across the world, Mitutoyo proposes its technologies in the fields of hardware, software, sensors, automatic control, handling systems, and the various types of tools, combined with third-party technologies, to answer customers' issues relating to advanced measurement.
